DETAILED ACTION

Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-14, drawn to a microreplicated shaving surface, classified in class 30, subclass 346.57.
 - II. Claims 15-20, drawn to a method for making a microreplicated shaving surface, classified in class 83, subclass 13.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case (1) applies because the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product such as a microreplicated shaving surface comprising a plurality of micro-shaving elements placed perpendicular to each other. This product does not require parallel shaving elements as set forth in the method claims.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Election of Species

3. After Group I or Group II is elected, election is further required to one of the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- A. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein micro-shaving elements are formed from amorphous material;
- B. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein micro-shaving elements are formed from stainless steel; and
- C. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein micro-shaving elements are formed from tungsten.

4. After an election of one of Groups A-C, election is further required to one of the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- D. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein first and second rake angles are different; and
- E. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein first and second rake angles are the same.

5. Finally, after an election of one of Group D or E, election is further required to one of the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- F. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein a first material is metallic and a second material is amorphous metal;
- G. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein a first material is ceramic and a second material is metallic; and

H. A microreplicated shaving surface wherein a first material is metallic and a second material is ceramic.

6. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim appears to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Conclusions

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
